Real evidence that Louisville has been in the grasp of an epidemic of influenza was obtained from the vital statistics records for the week ending last Saturday. During the week twelve deaths occurred among persons who had contracted the malady.

The Legislature is in session at Frankfort and will, for the next few months, occupy the center of the stage in public interest in Kentucky. The eyes of Kentuckians are focused on Frankfort and events there will be watched with keener interest than for many years. It is to be hoped that mistakes which can make the best Legislature a failure, will not occur and that instead of playing politics this Legislature will get down to business and help make the present administration the greatest in the history of Kentucky.

DANVILLE MARKET HIGH.

The Danville tobacco market has been as high as a "cats back" all this week and some fabulous prices have been secured. Last Tuesday the floor average was $12.58 and $11.50 the day before. Don't take our word for it, read the figures on the back page of this issue.

SHIPS TO ATLANTA.

Mr. W. B. Burton has bought in the past month several car loads of mules and has shipped them to various points in the south. Last Friday he shipped a nice car to the Wilson Live Stock Company, at Wilson N. C. and on Saturday morning he shipped probably the best load of the hybrids that has left the county this winter to Atlanta. This load he purchased of J. E. Robinson for $170 a round, all being mares and ranging in years from four to six.

A BEAUTIFUL LUNCHEON.

Mrs. John E. Stormes gave a beautifully appointed luncheon last Thursday. The table was very attractive in the Christmas colors of green and red, the center piece being a large basket of Richmond red roses, the some colors were carried out in the five course menu. Dainty place cards and crocheted bon-bon baskets were given as souvenirs of this delightful occasion. Covers were laid for the following: Mrs. Joe Robinson, Mrs. Will Cook, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. H. Clay Sutton and Mrs. Robert Elkin.

NOTICE TO PARENTS.

The first bell at the school rings at 8 o'clock and gives the children in town plenty of time to get to school before the second bell at 8:15. A good many children have been standing at the gates for some time before the first bell rings. We make this notice so parents may govern the time of their children leaving home accordingly, thus making them wait at the gates, in rain or snow.

BUCK APPOINTED.

At the last meeting of the board of council last Monday night, Orville Buck the present chief of police, was re-appointed and also made superintendent of the water works. H. T. Logan was disqualified for further service as councilman, having moved out of the city limits since last meeting. Mr. Wesley Zanone was elected to serve in his place.

WILL HAMILTON IMPROVING

Mr. J. W. Hamilton, our efficient County Clerk, who has been for the past six weeks at Carlsbad Springs, Dry Ridge, Ky., on account of an acute attack of Rheumatism, we are glad to report is improving and he hopes to be able to walk some this week, for the first time since his arrival there. While the duties of the clerk are very arduous at this time of year, they are being carefully looked after by Mrs. Hamilton and deputy clerk, E. M. Walker.

AFLECTED FAMILY.

News was received here Monday of the death at his home on the Cumberland river, in the lower part of Pulaski county, of Bowen Newell a brother of Mrs. Jesse Fox, of this county. Mr. Newell was a prominent farmer and stock man of that section and stock men here Monday deeply regretted news of his demise. Mr. Newell was about 55 years of age, and had been ill but a short time of pneumonia. He is survived by his wife and two children. His mother passed away only a short time ago; in fact, the heavy hand of affliction seems to have been laid upon his family recently, as a few months ago his son had his arm torn off in a shredder, his daughter has been very ill, he lost his mother, and he sustained the loss of 1,000 bushels of grain in a fire only recently.—Interior Journal.

DIRECTORS CHOSEN.

Without a single exception every director of the three banks were unanimously re-elected at the stockholders meeting held at the various bank offices last Tuesday afternoon. All these banks are in a flourishing condition, each having declared their regular dividends, beside carrying a good sum to the surplus. The Citizens National holds the distinction of being on the "honor roll", its capital and surplus being the same, $50,000. Stock in this bank recently sold for $200 a share. The National Bank, the oldest in the city, has a surplus of $30,000 and an undivided profit of $8,000, its capital stock is $50,000. The Garrard Bank and Trust Company, the youngest in the city, is growing in popularity and strength every year and beside paying its usual dividend carried $2000 to its surplus, which now amounts to $8,000.

KILLING AT CARTERSVILLE.

Only meager details can be gotten of a killing that took place at Cartersville last Sunday morning, when Eymum Carter Vanwinkle shot and mortally wounded Lee Ballard, who died after being taken to a Hospital at Berea on the same day. The Vanwinkle side of the case, as we have gathered it, is about as follows. It seems that Vanwinkle secured a warrant against a man named Wilson for stealing corn and Sunday morning while Vanwinkle was cutting wood at his home, three men came up on the road and immediately opened fire on him, one of the shots, however taking effect. Dynamite, who is a seventeen year old boy and a brother of Jim's, ran for his gun and opened fire on the three men in the road, the result being as stated above. Vanwinkle has not been captured, but it is said he will surrender in a few days. It is thought one of the other men is seriously wounded.

MAT S. COHEN WEDS.

Secretary of Agriculture Mat S. Cohen, elected to that office in the last election, shipped into Covington Saturday morning and by the aid of the court stenographer, eluded the newspaper men. Later he appeared in County Clerk John Dillon's office and secured a marriage license to wed Mrs. Anna Mayfield, of Mayfield Ky.

In the afternoon the couple went to the home of the Rev. J. Howard Gibbons and were married according to the rites of the Episcopal Church. After the ceremony they went to the Gibson House in Cincinnati and will leave to-morrow for Frankfort, where they will reside.

The bride is the wealthy widow of the late Coley W. Mayfield and has been spending the winter in Chicago, where her daughter has been attending school. She went to Cincinnati December 1, where her daughter, Miss Mildred, entered the Conservatory of Music. Mr. Cohen and Mrs. Mayfield met about a year ago. Mr. Cohen has made several visits to Mayfield since that time.

SWAFFIELD.

News reached here Monday morning announcing the death in Mt. Sterling, of R. H. Swaffield. Mr. Swaffield has often made this town representing the Globe Tailoring Company, of Cincinnati and has many friends here and elsewhere who will regret to hear of his death. He died of heart failure superinduced by asthma. He leaves a young wife.

FOX.

The death of Judge Robert H. Fox which occurred in Louisville last week will be regretted by many of the elder citizens of this county where he resided for about fifteen years and where he is so well remembered. He was seventy-five years old and was a prominent figure in the Middleboro, Ky. boom, many years ago. He died of pneumonia superinduced by an attack of grip, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Hackney. Judge Fox was county judge of Bell county for a number of years. He was born in Ireland and was brought to this country when only ten years old.

CREECH.

News was received here Wednesday morning of the death of Mrs. Annie Creech, wife of J. W. Creech, President of the Bastin Telephone Co.

She died of pneumonia and her sudden death was made doubly shocking by the fact that she leaves three small children, the youngest being three months old. She was a member of the Christian church, a devoted wife and mother and will be greatly missed in East Bernstad.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Conn left at once for East Bernstad to attend the funeral and burial. Mr. Creech is very popular in Lancaster where he has business interests and his friends and acquaintances sympathize with him in his great bereavement.

BEAZLEY.

Miss Alice Beazley died at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. T. Johnson, in Danville Monday morning and after funeral services conducted by Rev. D. M. Walker, of Stanford, on Wednesday morning, the interment took place in the Lancaster cemetery.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Beazley, who were natives of Lincoln county. Miss Beazley had suffered from a complication of diseases for many months. She was a member of the Christian church and had borne her sufferings with characteristic Christian fortitude. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. C. T. Johnson and Miss Mollie Beazley of Danville, and three brothers, Mr. G. G. Beazley of Danville; Mr. J. R. Beazley of Jacksonville Fla., and E. T. Beazley of Elizabethtown, Ky.

UNDERWOOD.

Mrs. Maria Wilmot Underwood, wife of W. H. Underwood and sister of James and Ben Wilmot, of this county, died at her home near Huckle last Saturday afternoon at five o'clock.

Mrs. Underwood had been a patient sufferer for several years, but her suffering served to bring out her beautiful Christian character which is indeed a heritage to her two devoted daughters, Mrs. Anna Bailey and Mrs. Lillie Holtzclaw who were uniting in their ministrations and devotion. Mrs. Underwood was a faithful member of the Christian church of Hubble, where she will be greatly missed.

Funeral services were conducted Monday morning at her late home by Rev. F. M. Tindler after which interment took place in the Lancaster cemetery.

The heavy hand of affliction has been laid upon this family recently as this is the second death in such a short time and now the good wife of Mr. James Wilmot lies dangerously ill at her home on the Stanford pike.

KAUFFMAN

Assigned To Good Committees.

In the announcement of the committee assignments by the Speaker of the House at Frankfort yesterday, it is seen that our representative, H. C. Kauffman, is well taken care of, having been assigned to five important committees and made chairman of the committee on Kentucky statutes. He will also serve on the following: Court of Appeals, Circuit Courts, Codes of Practice, and Judiciary.

UP! UP! UP!!!

Goes Tobacco On Richmond Market.

The Richmond tobacco market has reached some sensational figures this week and as usual the weed that smashes all records is invariably grown in Garrard county. D. N. Long and Emmet Long sold their crops on this market this week, the former securing the high average of $28.91, the latter an average of $24.39. Jay Wheeler and Dash Atkinson had fine crops and each received over the $20 mark. Read the averages in the advertisements in this issue.

STANFORD COURT

Draws Small Crowd But Business Brisk.

Although quite a small crowd turned out for Court Day at Stanford last Monday, those that were on hand, were there for business and a good deal of trading was done, chief among the mule traders, yet all cattle on the market to the number of two hundred changed hands at about 6 1/2 cents. Probably twenty-five mules were sold at seemingly old time prices and at an advance of $15 on the head for what they were selling one month ago. Monte Fox, of Danville bought a pair of Bowen Givens for $310, these were three year old horse mules, a choice mare mule of L. S. Palmer, of this county, for $250, a pair of P. G. Gooch, for $310, of W. A. Laech one for $175, one of Bob Gaines, price $135, a horse mule five years old of J. H. Bustle for $175, and one of J. H. Powell, for $127.50. Center Bros. bought a pair of three year olds of R. E. Gaines for $300. J. E. Robinson bought some nice stock cattle, 3 head of R. K. Young that weighed 945 lbs for $6.62 1/2 a hundred and 15 head of W. R. McAfee of Boyle, for six and a half cents a pound. These averaged about 800 pounds.

BUTTER AND EGGS

PROVE PROFITABLE.

Miss Stella Clark, who is a daughter of Mr. James Clark, of this county has earned a reputation for making money from her poultry and butter, that should make others sit up and take notice.

From one hundred and fifty hens during the year 1915, she sold 1329 dozen eggs that brought her a total of $205.36. This is not all, for during the same period she sold 392 pounds of butter that realized her the nest sum of $90.54.

BEN ALI THEATRE

HAS $80,000 FIRE

The stage of the Ben Ali theatre of Lexington, is a pile of twisted girders and charred timbers as the result of a fire of unknown origin that was discovered Tuesday morning about 7:45 o'clock. The total loss on the $200,000 structure is estimated at $80,000. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

The theatre will be restored as soon as the contracts can be let, and will be reconstructed along original plans. This, the most beautiful playhouse in the South has suffered an almost complete loss as to decorations, practically the whole of the interior will have to be done over; the rich velvet drop curtain, that cost $1,500, is lost; the painting and gold tinting by Tiffany, representing an outlay of $25,000, adorning the walls, ceiling and borders of the main auditorium, has been peeled off in rolls and smoked out of color; blue velvets that draped the boxes in the three tiers are discolored by smoke and water; the upholstery in the main floor chairs is spoiled to a less extent; the varnish on the seats in the first and second balconies is blistered.

The $10,000 organ was wrecked by fallen timbers and flooded with water, and the stage furnishings is a total loss. The rest of the damage is made up in the buckled walls on the two remaining sides of the stage.

WHEN THE NEW YEAR ARRIVES.

At certain periods of the year there are certain diseases that sweep the country. In the spring influenza afflicts mankind; in the summer, rose fever, and in the early autumn the hay feverites snuffle and mangle the English language. But with the beginning of the year an epidemic of a disease of the most virulent sort spreads over the civilized world, causing ninety-nine out of a hundred of its inhabitants to raise their right hands involuntarily and swear by all that's holy they will lead fast to the straight and narrow path forever and forever.

The symptoms of the disease are always the same. It is better and more generally known than the common cold; it is more regular in its appearance, and more persons suffer from it than from any other affliction, yet physicians and bacteriologists have never found a remedy or isolated its germ. This microbe, once taken into the system, can never be eliminated. The same victims suffer from it year after year, and each year hundreds of thousands of new sufferers join the ranks.

The disease first makes its appearance in December. A victim beams beatifically around a poker table and announces, "Well, boys, I swear off on the 1st."

Jan. 1 arrives. Simultaneously several hundred million persons rise, yawn and glance at the calendar. Involuntarily the muscles of the right arm contract, elevating that member toward the ceiling. In a state of temporary stupor the victim voices good intentions. The stupor is attended by either a lapse of memory or a distorted mentality.

In from five minutes to one week, statistics show, the disease usually runs its course. The victim becomes himself again. He draws himself to his full height, voices the thought, "Aw, what's the use?" and resumes his normal mode of life with renewed ardor.

SCHOOL NOTES.

We have enrolled about 10 or 12 new pupils in school since Christmas.

Quite a number of the children in the school are confined to their homes with grip.

The different teachers hold devotional exercises, each in her own room on Wednesday mornings.

Mrs. Curry who, has been busy as a substitute teacher, for several weeks, is out of school for few days, sick with a cold.

Miss Katherine Parke, who has charge of the 5th and 6th grades is detained from her school work because of "grip".

The boys and girls are quite busy in getting ready for the midyear examinations, which begin on Wednesday of next week.

Notwithstanding the unusual amount of sickness, and the inclemency of the weather the school is starting off splendidly since the holidays.

Miss Mary Elmore, who has been unable to meet her classes since the holidays, because of sickness, is better and hopes to resume her teaching in a few days.

Miss Lena Webb, who had charge of the department of music 1914-15, has returned and again assumed control of the same department; she begins again with quite a large and enthusiastic class.

The following pupils were on the Honor Roll for Dec.

2nd. Grade. Edith Moore.
3rd. Grade. Elsie Fothergill, J. O. Bogle, Lucile Stapp, Elizabeth Dudley, Claude Rice Gaines, Elsie Conn, Mittie Dunn, Margaret Conn.

The Board of Education has recently supplied the school with a splendid collection of helpful wall Atlases; they have also bought for the school window protectors or guards for all the rooms of the basement; and window shades have been bought for the rooms not originally supplied with them. All these supplies were much needed and will enable the school to do better work.

MILITARY TRAINING CAMP.

General Leonard Wood, of the U. S. Army has just made the following announcement:

It has been decided to hold a military training camp for civilians at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., near Chattanooga, Tenn. While many other localities offered excellent camp sites and most generously promised to secure every necessary convenience, the necessity for being near a garrisoned army post was paramount. The necessary camp equipment and supplies are at hand with storage facilities; the regular troops can be more easily maintained and at less expense; water and light are under Government control and there is a well equipped target range within reach.

The climate is excellent, weather conditions most favorable for out of door work and offers unquestionably a healthy location in addition to being the only large army post now garrisoned in the region to be covered.

This camp will be conducted by the War Department along the lines of the Plattsburg Camp for "Students" and for "Business and Professional men", held last summer.

The first camp for business and professional men will begin early in April and continue four weeks. If applications warrant, a second camp will be held early in May to terminate in June. The students camp will open July 5th, for five weeks. Thereafter, if conditions warrant the camp will be continued. For details and complete information a bulletin will be distributed from these headquarters by application to the "Officer in Charge, Southern Training Camp, Governors Island, N. Y."

Camp expense about $20.00 exclusive of uniform, which costs from $8.00 to $12.00. Special rates of one and a half cents per mile for round trip fare are offered by railroads covering this region.

The camp will be under the direct supervision of the Commanding General, Eastern Department, commanded by selected officers of the regular army. An extensive course of training will be given.

INSTRUCTION.

The purpose of the camp will be to give each attendant as much of the fundamental education of an officer as can be imparted in the duration of the camp. A certain definite routine will be prescribed for all, including rifle practice. Special opportunities under expert officers will be offered for training in various branches of the service, cavalry, artillery, engineers, signal corps and first aid. There will be present at the camp Cavalry, Artillery, Signal Corps and infantry officers of the regular army.

ORGANIZATION.

Attendants at the camp will be divided into war strength, companies of infantry, troops of cavalry or batteries of Artillery (if application warrant) commanded by officers of the regular army, whose duties cover not only those of instruction but also the health and general welfare of their commands. Attendants are on a cadet basis.

HAS FAITH IN QUICK REMEDY FOR CATARRH.

R. E. McRoberts Guarantees That Hyomei Will Relieve The Worst Cases of Catarrh in Lancaster.

When one of the most reputable concerns in Lancaster guarantees that a medicine will produce benefit or he will refund the money it speaks volumes for the merits of that remedy. It is in this way that R. E. McRoberts is selling Hyomei, the treatment that has helped so many cases of both acute and chronic catarrh in Lancaster and vicinity.

Hyomei is not a pill nor is it a spray or a lotion that must be rubbed in. It is an oil, the air of which you just breathe in your nose, throat and lungs by the aid of an inhaler that comes with every outfit. Benefit will usually be seen from the very first treatment.

This air destroys all germ life in the air passages and lungs and enriches and purifies the blood with the additional ozone it supplies. It banishes catarrh of the head and throat and respiratory organs. Wherever these mucous membranes contain catarrhal germs, there Hyomei will do its work of healing.

The complete Hyomei outfit is inexpensive and includes an inhaler dropper and sufficient Hyomei for several weeks treatment.

Remember that if Hyomei does not relieve you R. E. McRoberts will refund your money.

TRY THIS IF HAIR STARTS FALLING.

At this season of the year many people find their hair coming out at an alarming rate and often fear baldness. This may very easily be the ultimate result if proper scalp treatment is not taken at once. All excessive loss of hair can be almost immediately stopped by the use twice daily of a little Parisian Sage which invigorates and nourishes the slowly dying hair roots into a renewal of healthy normal action. New hair quickly grows on the thin spots, old hair stops falling and the difference is apparent in a few days by the very look of the hair itself taking on new life, lustre and beauty. Parisian Sage can be obtained from R. E. McRoberts or any good druggist. It is not expensive.

Tom Stewart a colored gentleman a tenant on Mr. Curry Robinson's farm arrived at the barn one morning before day-light with lantern and milk pails, on opening the barn door he stood petrified with terror at the satanic monster that confronted him. As soon as it was possible for him to move, he flung his lantern and buckets to the wind and took to his heels and never stopped running until he was a safe distance from the barn. When investigation was made by day-light he found that the basis of his terror was only a cow, whose eyes and form were magnified by superstitious fear which is characteristic of his race and the lurid light reflected by his lantern. At any rate he could not be persuaded to enter the barn any more before day-light.

Bad Habits.

Those who breakfast at eight o'clock or later, lunch at twelve and have dinner at six are almost certain to be troubled with indigestion. They do not allow time for one meal to digest before taking another. Not less than five hours should elapse between meals. Wesley, one of the little sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Simpson, died at their home Friday Jan. 7, 1916 about noon. The little one had been a great sufferer for more than six weeks and hope for its recovery had been abandoned for some time. The beloved little body was placed in the cemetery at the Methodist church here. To the bereaved ones we can only say, "Weep not for those who have no hope, but look to the Blessed Redeemer who said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven". Little Wesley awaits you in a land where there is no suffering, no sorrow, no death but only beautiful, happy, eternal life.

The Habit of Taking Cold.

With many people taking cold is a habit, but fortunately one that is easily broken. Take a cold sponge bath every morning when you first get out of bed—not ice cold, but a temperature of about 90 F. Also sleep with your window up. Do this and you will seldom take cold. When you do take cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of it as quickly as possible. Obtainable everywhere.

We are authorized to announce Miss

Jennie Higgins a candidate for County

School Superintendent of Garrard

County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary August 1917.

The suggestion by his democratic friends that Hon. Owen McIntyre, editor of the Danville Advocate be given the nomination for congress seems to be well received in this end of the district. It is reported that this popular democratic editor will soon formally announce his candidacy for the nomination and will begin actively to organize the district for a final "try out" with the present incumbent. Mr. Mc-Intyre has been in the democratic harness a long time and has fought the battles of the party well and faithfully and there will be a strong sentiment to reward this capable and popular demorcrat for it.

Friends of Editor W. Owen Mc-Intyre, of the Danville Advocate, have started a boom for him for the demor-cratic congressional nomination in this district. Mac is a bundle of energy and determination and should be declared to start, which, we understand, is very probable, will make "em all go some to beat him. He is strictly a live wire every way. Another prominent demorcrat up this way who is also being quietly "mentioned" is Editor Joe E.

Robinson, of the Lancaster Record.

Mr. Robinson's friends say if he should consent to run he would prove one of the most formidable men in the field, as he is very close to Gov. Stanley and could command the solid support of the state "administration."—Interior Journal.

The last issue of the Interior Journal had a handsome likeness of Mr. Jess

Weaver, who has been elected City

Clerk of Stanford. Mr. Weaver is also one of the best known insurance men in the state, but the best thing we can say of him is that he is a son-in-law of

Lancaster having married Miss Nell

Dillon.

T. K. Watson, agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for Lincoln and Garrard counties, has moved to this city to make his headquarters, and will be given a cordial welcome here as T. K. is a hustler and very popular with all who know him.

Mr. Watson and bride have taken the Vanderbilt flat recently vacated by Mr.

and Mrs. C. H. Foster.—Interior Journal.

A report from Harrodsburg, received this week, says the condition of "Billy"

Potter is quite serious. He has been in a dangerous condition for several days. Mr. John Faulkner White has returned to college after a visit to friends in New York City, and to his mother, Mrs. Jennie Faulkner White, in Washington D. C. Mesdames Thomas Dunn and Josephine Young, of For-worth Texas were called to Danville

by the death of their mother, Mrs.

Margaret Robinson Dunn. Mrs. Charles

Hardin of Harrodsburg, has been spending the week in Danville with her husband, Judge Hardin. Minister W.

J. Price left yesterday afternoon for Washington City, having been called to the capital on account of important negotiations between the United States and Panama which are now under consideration.—Danville Messenger.

TANLAC SECURES

HIGHEST RECORD

Quality Tells the Interesting Story of This Extraordinary Medicine.

No other medicine ever has approached the wonderful record of Tanlac. Its success is a romance of the staid business world—a success built on merit so unusual that in just nine months after Tanlac had been introduced, one million bottles had been sold to men and women who had learned its superior qualities for the relief of ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys and catarrhal affections.

Tanlac appeals to the best people everywhere. These are the men and women who judge intelligently and impartially, and the result always is a Tanlac verdict. Upon the endorsement of many thousands of well known people rests the great and secure popularity of Tanlac.

Those who take Tanlac always return for the second bottle because the first few doses establish its merits. Tanlac is so efficient and pure, it at once makes known its value in derangements of the stomach, indigestion, upset nerves and debility.

Tanlac, that has come to be generally known as the Master Medicine, may now be obtained in Lancaster, Ky., at the R. E. McRoberts Drug Store, where it is explained daily to many people.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our deepest appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us in the bereavement of our father. We will always remember how faithful and kind our neighbors and friends were to us.

Miss Mary Chesnut and Bros.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Thomas David Chesnut, one of the most prominent and highly respected citizens of Garrard county, died of a complication of diseases at his home near Lancaster, Wednesday morning Jan. 6th. He was 76 years of age.

Besides two brothers, John of Holdenville, Oka, and Sam of Waco, Texas, Mr. Chesnut is survived by seven children, four of whom are married. They are, Mr. Elmer F. Chesnut, of Beeville, Texas, Mrs. Chas. Burdett of Broken Arrow, Okla., Mrs. J. W. Woods of Lexington, Ky., and Messrs Thomas, Virgil, Robert, and Miss Mary Chesnut all of Garrard county. Funeral services were conducted at the old Fork church where he had been a member for nearly fifty years on Thursday morning by Rev. James M. Mahan, assisted by Eld. P. M. Tindler. His remains were taken to Lancaster where they were laid to rest. Mr. Chesnut was born near Athens, Tenn., Feb. 13th, 1839. He came to Kentucky about the close of the civil war. He was married three times, his first wife being Miss Nannie Rout, his second Miss Margaret Rains and his last Mrs. Sallie Hampton. He has been a farmer nearly all of his life having begun farming shortly after coming to Ky., and he became a very successful farmer and stock raiser. He was an honest and a very agreeable man, and was liked by all who knew him. He was widely known for his kindness and hospitality, always taking the greatest of pleasure in befriending those in need and he made friends wherever he went. He was a very devoted church member, holding several offices in the church during his life and he always contributed liberally both time and money to church work.

He was a man of excellent character and kindly nature. He set an unusually good example for his children and also others, by living a good clean life, part of which is shown by the fact that he abstained from the use of tobacco, strong drinks and harsh words. He started life aright, and his example is a good one to follow. He was very much interested in the welfare of his children, always giving them good advice and was a kind loving father. He leaves a host of friends and relatives who deeply mourn his loss. Though his work is ended and he has reaped his reward, it will be hard, so very hard to forget him.

Abracadabra a Fever Cure.

Long before a change of climate came to be advertised as a cure for lay fever, an idea the railroads have been suspected of fostering, a simpler remedy was thought to be the word, abracadabra. This magical word was once used as a charm against ague and fevers. Its meaning is disputed. As a charm it was written to form an inverted triangle by dropping the last letter at each successive repetition.—Kansas City Times.

When the first cold weather begins the hens should be fed a little whole grain each morning—not full feed, just enough to keep the hens hungry. After this give them a drink of warm skim-milk or buttermilk; then follow with warm, clean water. Give them free range if the weather will permit. Feed some kind of foodstuff at noon. If cabbage is available no other feed will be necessary. The hens will relish raw beets, turnips, mangels and apples. These may be fed more economically when chopped into small bits.

POULTRY TALK.

This is the time to be preparing the winter quarters for the reception of your fowls.

Open sheds and limbs of trees are not suitable places for chickens when the cold blasts of winter come.

It pays to have warm houses for your laying hens. They will lay enough eggs to pay for the extra expense of keeping them warm.

Before you place your hens in their winter quarters see to it that the house is perfectly clear from lice and mites.

See that the hens are clean when you put them in a clean house. Give them a fair start toward the egg laying period.

CARE OF PULLETS FOR WINTER EGGS

As pullets approach maturity they should be so managed that they will begin laying at the right time in the fall, which is usually the latter part of October or early November. According to Professor H. E. Lewis of the New Jersey experiment station, it is desirable to get them into permanent winter quarters early. This gives the poultryman a chance to study the individuals and to cull any undesirable ones, thus producing a uniform flock. It also gives the birds time to get used to their new quarters before time to start laying.

It also enables the poultryman to watch carefully by feeding and control the growth and maturity of birds. If the fowls are matured too quickly he can check them slightly by a different method of feeding, or if he wishes to force them slightly before cold weather begins to get them in a good laying condition he can increase his protein feeding stuffs. It enables him to bring his pullets into laying condition at a time which will be most consistent with a continuous winter production.

If the pullets are giving an egg production of 25 to 30 per cent during November it will be a pretty easy proposition to maintain this production and even increase it slightly during the next three months. On the other hand, if they are giving only 2 to 10 per cent at this time and cold weather shuts down it will be difficult if not impossible to get the flock to maintain an average production throughout the winter high enough to be profitable.

Through December, January and February, with the prevailing prices for market eggs, it will take a production of 12 to 15 per cent to pay feed and labor costs. If the birds are hatched during March and April and not later than the middle of May, and are properly brooded and given a good environment where they can make a uniform continuous growth and thereby attain maturity at the right time, and if possessed of an abundance of vitality they should produce 25 to 30 per cent during the winter months.

Wyandotte hens are remarkable layers of large brown eggs. In some strains the shell color is almost white, in others a coffee brown. All Wyandottes are generally recognized as good winter layers, and the white variety is the leader in this respect. For that reason it is especially valuable as an egg producer. The cock shown is a Silver Laced Rose Comb Wyandotte.

Nothing Good or Bad. There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so.—Shakespeare: "Hamlet."

Dead Sea Not So Dead. The name "Dead Sea" nowhere occurs in the Bible, and was not used by writers before the time of Christ. The name was evidently given to the lake on account of the belief that no life existed in it. But some low forms of life are found in the water, and many small animals and birds live near the shores. The great tragedy of Sodom and Gomorrah may also have led to the bestowal of the name.—Christian Herald.

OBITUARY.

The Rev. John Rockwell Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Lancaster, Ky., died in the hospital at Lebanon, Ky., on the morning of December 28th, 1915.

He was the son of Benjamin Warfield Smith and Lillie Treadway Smith, and was born near Lexington, Ky., May 26, 1853. At four years of age he moved with his parents to Tennessee, where his mother died in 1859, and his father in 1891. He and his younger brother, James Brookes Smith, were then taken to St. Louis by their maternal grandmother, with whom they made their home until her death in that city in 1897. They then moved to Henderson, Ky., where they resided with their aunt, Miss Amy E. Smith, at the home of Dr. Thomas Cummins, a Presbyterian Minister. After completing his course of preparatory study at Henderson, J. Rockwell Smith entered Central University at Richmond, Ky. When that institution and Centre College were consolidated, he took up his studies in the united institution at Danville, Ky., and graduated with honor with the degree of A. B. in 1903. Later he received the degree of M. A. for work done in English Literature. He entered the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Louisville in the fall of 1904, and graduated with the degree of B. D. in 1907. After serving for a short time as stated supply of the Presbyterian Church at Burnside, Ky., he was called to the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., at Shelbyville, Ky., where he was ordained and installed Nov. 17, 1907. In 1909, after the union of the Northern and Southern Presbyterian Churches of that place, in effecting which he was largely instrumental, and upon the consummation of which both pastors resigned, he became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Lebanon, Ky. In 1912 he served as pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of Owensboro, Ky., and on April 22, 1913 he was installed pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Lancaster, Ky.

He married Nov. 6th, 1907, Miss Alene Fox, daughter of Charles C. Fox, Esq., and Mollie Allen Fox, of Danville, Ky. He leaves a widow and two little daughters, Judith Allen, and Charlotte Fox; also a brother, James Brookes Smith, professor in Hampden Sydney College, Va.

Among his ancestors and near relatives on both the paternal and maternal sides are found the names of many Presbyterian Ministers, as many, perhaps, as twenty-five, not a few of them names of distinction in Presbyterian history. Among them might be mentioned his great-grandfather, Dr. Drury Lacey, president of Hampden Sydney College from 1789 to 1797; his great-grandfather, Dr. James Hall Brookes, Sr., and Dr. Eli Smith; Dr. James Hall Brookes, the Second; an uncle, Dr. John Rockwell Smith, now a missionary in Brazil; and Dr. William H. Marquis, professor in the New York Bible School, Dr. Benjamin Warfield, professor of theology in Princeton Seminary, Dr. Rockwell S. Brank, of Savannah, Ga., and Rev. James P. Smith, missionary in Brazil, cousins of the deceased.

Closing his earthly career at the early age of thirty-two, he had nevertheless attained a maturity far beyond his years. He was balanced in judgment, cool and self-controlled in temper, independent in convictions, and positive in the statement of his views; and thus fellow-shipped naturally with older men, and wielded an influence unusual for one of his age. He was qualified for leadership in church and community. He had studied and planned and worked for the things that are worth while, and bore the marks of those things upon his character; and thus he had found in his life, though so brief, adequate scope for his development; and coming home to God so early, he yet brought with him the golden fruitage of a ripened Christian Character.

Through years of patient endeavor he had carefully trained himself for the gospel ministry; and his first interest was in the work and welfare of the Church of Christ. He earnestly hoped for the union of the two great branches of the Presbyterian Church. He had a scholarly acquaintance with the Scriptures, was a sound theologian, and an able preacher of the gospel. He was a faithful and efficient presbyter, regularly taking his part in presbyterial deliberations and action. As chairman of the Committee on Narrative of the Synod of Kentucky, he presented at the last meeting of Synod a report uniquely valuable in virtue of its fullness, comparisons and deductions. He had won the strong devotion of the people of his congregation, who in many quiet ways expressed their love and grief for him, and their sense of the loss they had sustained in his death.

He had identified himself closely with the Lancaster community. He was acquainted generally with the people, and was the friend of all, of whatever class or condition. He loved his fellow men, and naturally and easily entered into friendly relations with them, gaining their confidence and good will. His maturity of mind and character lent weight to his views; and, as was testified after his death, he had wielded a quiet personal influence in his own community such as had rarely been equalled. His influence with young men was especially marked.

The writer knew him for a goodly number of years as a fellow presbyter, a brother in the ministry, and as a personal friend; and while he records this tribute as a labor of love, he can do so only with the deepest sadness and sense of bereavement. As his guest during the meeting of Presbytery in Lancaster last October, he sat with him and a beloved brother minister into the late hours of two nights, speaking of the "things pertaining to the kingdom", enjoying the high fellowship of a common interest in the unseen and eternal. Sorrowing most of all that we shall see his face no more on earth, yet we put away from us the thought that his death was untimely, as our faith abides in the infinite wisdom and goodness of God. His life given for God's sake, for his own sake, and for the sake of his friends and fellow men, goes on without break, fulfilling its divine purpose for ever, finding immeasurably more than full compensation for that which was subtracted here in that which is added over there.

Uniting with the Presbyterian church when young, he lived in the strength of an unwavering faith. When stricken with appendicitis, and removed to the hospital at Lebanon, he expressed his readiness for the issue whatever it might be, and his resignation to the will of God. After some weeks an operation was performed; but it became evident a few days later that the hope of his recovery was not to be fulfilled. When the death shadows were already falling upon him, he calmly dictated a letter to the writer of this, making some suggestions and requests concerning his funeral, and signing it with his own hand. He remarked that it would be sweet to die on the Lord's Day, but the divinely appointed hour was a little later. With full composure he awaited the end; and on Tuesday morning December 28th he fell into peaceful slumber, to awake in "the land of pure delight," where weakness and pain and death and sorrow are unknown forever.

He had been stricken on a Wednesday evening after conducting prayer meeting and his Bible class, as it proved, for the last time. In the same church from which he had gone out that evening, simple services were held on the fourth Wednesday after before a crowded congregation of parishioners, citizens and friends, bowed in deep bereavement under the strange providence that had befallen them. Sincere words of appreciation and affection were spoken, though respect was paid to his dying request that eulogy should be avoided. The body was then taken to Danville, and reverently laid to rest in Bellview Cemetery; and the tearful company that stood about the grave felt the appropriateness of the solemn words spoken as the casket sank into its quiet resting place. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

RESOLUTIONS.

Passed By The Masonic Club Of Lancaster

At a meeting of the Masonic Club last Friday evening, it was ordered that the following resolutions be drafted upon the death of our late member, Rev. J. Rockwell Smith.

Whereas, it has pleased our Supreme Master to call our worthy brother, J. Rockwell Smith, from his labors here to rest on high, therefore be it:

Resolved, that in the death of J. Rockwell Smith, we have lost a genial, affable, courteous member of our club, one who commanded the respect and esteem of all the club members. In appreciation of his merits as a man among men, be it further

Resolved, that in his death, the club has suffered a loss which will be felt by it in but little less degree than those composing his domestic circle and that the traits of character which he exhibited, the fidelity with which he discharged all professional and private duties, merit the remembrance and emulation of all its members.

We sympathize with his widow and children and with the church which mourns his departure.

Resolved, in token of the esteem in which he was held and in memory of his friendship as a club member, that these resolutions be furnished his family and also published in the Central Record.

Really Not to Blame.

"Uncle Mose, your first wife tells me that you are three months behind with your alimony." "Yes, Judge, Ah reckon dat am so. But yo' see it's jes' dis way. Dat second wife o' mine ain't turned out t' be the worker that Ah thought she was gwine t' be."—Detroit Free Press.

Region of Greatest Snowfall.

A total snowfall of 783 inches has been recorded in a single winter at Summit, Cal., while as much as 307 inches has been on the ground at one time at the same station. As this snow furnishes most of the water used in irrigation, hydraulic mining and other phases of engineering, the question of snow depth is of much importance in forecasting the amount of water available for such purposes.—United States Department Circular.

Where Courtships Are Long.

Young ladies in Russia are not at all averse to long engagements, and use all sorts of artifices to stave off the wedding day as long as possible, but in no country in the world are courtships so abnormally long as in Bohemia, where engagements commonly last from fifteen to twenty years. In fact, there recently died there, at the age of ninety-nine, an old man who had been courting for 75 years and who was married on his death bed.

SCHOOL DAYS OF LONG AGO

Sixty-five years ago last June the following essay was read in Franklin Institute by Eliza Lusk, afterwards Mrs. John Frazee. We print it believing those who are mentioned and still living will be borne on the wings of imagination to Lancaster, to the place made sacred by the remembrance of their school days and the cherished associations of schoolmates, believing that intervening years have not dimmed the vivid coloring a classmate painted them, and that with fond recollection they will delight to dwell upon the faces which marked their early pathway. School days! What words fall upon the ear with so much of music in their cadence as those which recall the scenes of innocent and happy girlhood, now numbered with the memories of the past.

Life and its varied experiences has intertwined this bouquet of remembrances and predictions with strong cords and as they have stood at the loom of time, each with a different kind of wrap, they have woven lines of unfading beauty and imperishable worth. The reminiscences of youth is a trite theme, but it possesses an interest which the world cannot dislodge from our breasts. From the covenants of friendship then they thought in afterdays to enjoy the benefit and love of each other, but the forces of life drove them asunder, and swept away all but memory of the past.

Many of these flowers could now be named as immortelles for "after life's fiery fever they sleep well." Those who remain are wearing a temporal crown of white which shall fall at the gates of Paradise, to be replaced by a brighter and a better.

We give some of the names in full which are: Lizzie Leavelle, Mary Hudson Chennault, Bettie Bailey, Maggie Duncan Bradley, Jane Hopper, Belle Salter Austin, Ellen Letcher Owsley, Allie Pierce, Lattie Duncan Warren, Tabbie Burnside Walker, Emma Walker, Laura Phillips Dunn, Sallie Marrs Sparks, Emma Walker, Harriet Walker White, Maria Hopper, Jessie Huffman Price, Bettie Miller and Katie Simpson Elkin.

School Boquet.

"Our school boquet is composed of as great a variety of flowers as can be collected in a single one—the various forms and many colors that belong to the flowers of the field, scarcely exceed the variety of dispositions, faces and forms, that congregate in our school room day after day.

Lizzie is our Arbor Vitae—with her love smiling, happy face, she enters and her hand is ever ready to assist her less gifted associates, every word and act seeming to say: "I live for thee only," for self seems entirely forgotten. She has found a place in our affections that can never be lost.

Next in the arrangement comes Mary, who is our Chrysanthemum, and as her daily intercourse endears her more and more to each heart it also impresses upon the conviction that, "truth needs no flower of speech," for her unvarnished story carries conviction to every mind and is prized more highly than if it were clothed in language the most beautiful and flowery you could conceive of.

The next flower that demands our attention is Maggie who represents the White Lily. How emblematic the name, for she is certainly the embodiment of purity and loveliness. Her countenance is all sunshine and her purity of heart and loveliness of disposition draws around her the love and warmest wishes of her schoolmates.

The next selection in the arrangement of flowers is Jane, who is a true representative of the Clover, her industry is proverbial, she, like the busy bee, improves each shining moment. When she, by her perseverance, masters the problems of mathematics, and learned well her other lessons, she then employs her time in household duties, gracing well alike the school room, parlor and kitchen, such industry commands alike the imitation and admiration of her schoolmates.

Then comes Belle, who is our Jasmine, and every one will agree in saying, "Thy gentle grace hath won me." There is a fascinating power in her manners, quiet and retiring as they are, which exacts a share of your affections. May she live a long and happy life, an object of love and admiration to all who know her, is the sincere wish of all her schoolmates.

What flower next claims a place in this school bouquet? It must be Ellen who represents the Poppy—so emblematic of flirtation. This beautiful flower has much to commend it and let us not censure it too harshly for fickleness, even she she is as changeable as the wind, each admirer, in his turn, has the satisfaction of knowing he has been loved some, and such thoughts help alleviate the bitterness of disappointment. She is a flower in our bouquet very necessary to its beauty and fragrance even if she does enjoy herself at the expense of broken hearts.

And now we have Alice who is our White Pink, and she is really the pink of perfection. Her character of artlessness to the letter, her sweet face with her unaffected manners, wins her heart unconsciously and renders her the center of attraction.

Now we must give Lottie who is our wall flower a passing notice. Her strong unchanging friendship when her feelings are once enlisted, and her ready disposition to assist her schoolmates in their troubles proves what her name implies, "a friend in need is a friend indeed." She is an example of the worth and merit of a true, strong and lasting friend.

Now we have Tabby, our Geranium, and she proves beyond cavil or controversy "that there is nothing in a name," for we must admit there isn't much sweetness or euphony in her cognomen, and yet none will doubt that her character is a combination of all that is lovely and charming, reflecting sweetness on her name, which if taken by itself does not possess much.

What can I say of Laura, who so truly represents the Aspen, being noted for her excessive sensibility. I almost fear to speak of her merits; lest like a delicate flower she will shrink away from the touch, and I might wonder where I had hoped to give pleasure. She is amiable, persevering and intelligent and needs nothing but self confidence among the fairest of the fair.

I have not as yet mentioned Bettie, As the Rose ranks among the flowers of the garden, the brightest in color, the sweetest in fragrance, so is Bettie among her schoolmates. On her fair, sweet face is stamped innocence and gentleness, and her character is in strict conformity.

Jennie, who is our Oak has a disposition corresponding with the language of the flower she represents, it may well be said of her clear sweet voice "thy music charms me", and as she mingles among us with her bright face, free from care, warbling her sweet notes of song she pleases all who come in sound of her voice.

Emma, our Crocus, deserves a notice among the flowers of our collection, true to her emblem, we must exclaim, "what an emblem thou art!" There hangs around her air of impenetrable mystery, but in this very mystery there is a charm which attracts us. We love, though we cannot comprehend her.

Sallie is our Damask rose, her bright countenance and sparkling eyes are engaging in themselves, but her blushes greatly augment her beauty, she goes far towards giving our bouquet a pleasing and engaging appearance.

Harriet is our halm and how truly she is a balm for all our woes (if school girls have any) she has a smile and word of comfort for each and her happy disposition renders her, by common consent, the "Angel of the household". I fear my description of my School Boquet is wearying you and I will only claim your attention for the consideration of a few more bright flowers and then desist. I have not mentioned.

Maria who is our Lemon and as she comes among us with her quiet sedate manners and frank, sensible face and so discreet in all she says and does. We are all ready to pronounce her "a perfect model of discretion". Josie is our Magnolia and as her name implies is noted for her magnanimity. Her greatness of mind and purity of heart are attributes of which she may well be proud. We have as yet called no Myrtle for our bouquet and of course it would not be complete without some branches turning around the other flowers, and who could more appropriately represent it than Bettie since "loves offering" she is a sweet fair girl; "May her innocence and truth, but ripen with her growing youth".

Now last, though not least worthy of our attention in this assembly of flowers thrown promiscuously together is Kate who represents the Star of Bethlehem, and I am sure there could not be found a more fit representation. As this flower lifts its head upward and seems to look heavenward, so Kate by her amiable disposition and Christian life proves by her every action that she is striving for a bright home beyond the skies which shores are lined with fadeless flowers.

To Prevent Dampness.

In damp weather always place a small wooden box filled with lime in the storeroom. This keeps the air dry and sweet, as the lime absorbs all the dampness.

Liberal With Their Gains.

A Spanish adventurer, returning from his highly lucrative wanderings in the early day Americans, is said to have given away $500,000 in alms on the occasion of his marriage at Barcelona. Another stood in a Madrid window and threw handfuls of silver coins into the crowd until he had emptied two barrels.

Why Red-Heads Are Seldom Bald.

The reason why red-haired people are less subject to baldness than others is said to be this: Their hair is relatively thick, one red hair being almost as thick as five fair or three brown hairs. The consequence is that with 30,000 red hairs the scalp is well thatched; whereas with the same number of fair hairs one is comparatively bald.

His Ambition.

"While I have been cordially detested during the most of my life, with or without ample justification," stated J. Fuller Gloom, "I intend to do at least not be a nuisance after death. To that end I have consistently refrained from making epigrams, manufacturing maxims and uttering sonorous sentences, to be repeated to helpless children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me."—Judge.

Narcotics in Egypt.

The limited field in Egypt for the sale of manufactured tobacco other than cigarettes would hardly warrant its manufacture there on a large scale. The native smokes cigarettes and tobacco. Tobacco is a mixture of tobacco and other ingredients, and is smoked in the water pipe. The local Greeks and Italians, of whom there are large colonies, smoke cigarettes and the cheaper grades of cigars. The higher grades of cigars and pipe tobacco are smoked by the better class of Europeans.

"Cured"

Mrs. Jay McGee, of Stephenville, Texas, writes: "For nine (9) years, I suffered with womanly trouble. I had terrible headaches, and pains in my back, etc. It seemed as if I would die. I suffered so. At last, I decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and it helped me right away. The full treatment not only helped me, but it cured me."

Cardui
The Women's Tonic

Cardui helps women in time of greatest need, because it contains ingredients which act specifically, yet gently, on the weakened womanly organs. So, if you feel discouraged, blue, out-of-sorts, unable to do your household work, on account of your condition, stop worrying and give Cardui a trial. It has helped thousands of women—why not you? CARVING A TURKEY

Advice For Those Who Will Perform the Operation.

USUALLY DONE BY THE HOST.

With the Eyes of the Hungry Assemblage Glued on Him, He Nonchalantly Gives the Dexterous Thrust That Cleaves the Brown Bird.

To carve a turkey at the table requires no small amount of self possession. Though there are the decorations, the last football game and a thousand other topics of interest to keep the attention of the guests away from the turkey end of the table, there inevitably comes the dreaded lull when the carver, worn with the struggle he is having with a refractory second joint, pauses to find the eyes of the assembled company fixed upon him as if drawn by a magnet. Of course this usually happens at the most critical point of the operation. For the unskilled carver it is a decidedly embarrassing position, and the joint that you know perfectly well how to locate and sever becomes most obstinate and unruly until you are ready to believe this turkey was made without any joints. In sheer desperation you make a remark that will turn the absorbed attention in any direction but your own, and you are left to hack and hew the carcass as best you can.

To watch the practiced carver is really a pleasure, and his easy manner in removing joints convinces you that carving a turkey is the simplest thing in the world. But to carve a turkey skillfully requires something more than self possession and a knowledge from general observation, and that is a careful study of the bird's anatomy. The amateur carver is a cook's bete noire. To see his work of art ruthlessly hacked to pieces by an unpracticed hand is enough to put him in a temper, for the success of the vial depends largely upon the dexterity with which it is handled.

The host usually manipulates the carving knife and fork, particularly at the Thanksgiving dinner. There seems to be a tradition that on this day the bird in all its brown and savory splendor should be placed intact upon the table. A thin, sharp bladed knife and a platter of sufficient size to hold the fowl and its disjointed portions are necessary to enable the carver to work with neatness and dexterity.

Whether it is good form to sit or stand while accomplishing the work depends entirely upon the comfort of the performer. There is also a question as to whether the head of the turkey should be to the carver's right or left. This is also for the individual to decide, but generally the head is to the left, as the wings and legs are more easily disjointed with a stroke from left to right. If the company be small and the bird one of good size carve from one side only. The other may be reserved for slicing cold.

The first move of the carver is to insert the fork astride the breastbone, at the point, plunging it deep enough to secure a firm hold. Then remove the drumstick with one stroke of the knife, first cutting through the skin down to the joint, hitting it squarely. It is a little difficult to locate this joint, but by pressing the leg away from the side of the turkey it is readily found.

It is claimed that the expert carver does not remove the fork from the breast until he has quite finished. He that as it may, it is quite necessary to use the fork in separating the thigh from the drumstick, and the hip is a favorite part with many.

To accomplish this make a V shaped cut toward the joint, holding the thigh against the side of the turkey with the fork. The drumstick drops off neatly into the platter.

The next stroke removes the wing. A deep cut through the ball and socket joint severs this with a part of the breast meat. To strike the joint squarely the first time requires skill, though sometimes it is done very neatly by pure luck, and this calls forth most favorable comment from the expectant and hungry assemblage. If the knife doesn't strike the joint at first, move it back and forth, pressing the wing away from the body, disclosing the ball of the joint, then cut through, and the wing is detached.

When this process is completed the disjointed portions are laid to one side of the platter or put on a separate plate, to allow of free space for slicing the breast meat.

How to Scallop Skirts.

Cut the skirt the desired pattern and sew up the seams. Then carefully make a six or seven inch facing to the right side of the skirt bottom, the wrong side of the facing uppermost, being sure that it lies very smoothly. Take a strip of paper the exact length of one-fourth of the skirt edge and on it cut scallops of one edge, large or small, as desired, but of course making them come out even. Pin this on the skirt with the edges of the scallops about half an inch from the bottom of the skirt and draw the curves with tailor chalk or lead pencil. Repeat this all around the skirt. Then machine stitch carefully on the chalk line. Trim away to one quarter inch of the stitching, snipping several times where one scallop joins another to give span. This is very important.

Next unfasten the facing and turn it back to the inside of the skirt, working out the curves of your scallops and basting again to hold them. Machine stitch again round the curves, or, if you prefer, merely press firmly. The upper edge of the facing should be stitched.

Farmers HOME TOBACCO WAREH'SE Company.

Incorporated.

INDEPENDANT.

Lexington, Ky. Virginia ave & Q&C.R.R

THIS IS FOR YOU MR. TOBACCO GROWER.

The Farmers Home Tobacco Warehouse Company has adopted the profit sharing plan. This means the net profit above six per cent. dividend, instead of being given to the stockholders, are to be given to you in proportion to your patronage.

The more tobacco we get the larger will be the profits returned. This profit sharing plan is guaranteed by the undersigned Directors. We were the first house in Kentucky to offer our warehouse to the farmers on the profit sharing basis.

Mr. Ford the automobile manufacturer made this proposition and returned $50.00 on every automobile; if we can get your support and sell 5,000,000 pounds of tobacco, we can return you fifteen to twenty cents on every hundred pounds sold. We guarantee to divide the profits, the other fellow keeps it.

The farmers see the proposition, and in consequence we have more than sold our pro-rata. The average of the Lexington market to date has been $10.00 per hundred, the Farmers Home average is $10.61, a net gain to our customers of sixty one cents. This has been accomplished by honest methods, and fresh tobacco which is always attractive to the buyer.

We have the second largest house in Lexington; it can house one hundred and twenty wagons, the stables are separate and apart from the warehouse, with one hundred and twenty box stalls. We have one hundred and thirty farmers as stockholders who control and direct the policy of this house.

We solicit your patronage and influence, and invite you to call and inspect our house and investigate this plan, because it means a saving to you.

BIG TOBACCO AVERAGES

Danville Market

Tobacco Prices Take Another Upward Jump and Big Averages Are Recorded and Growers Are Jubilant.

The Weed Reaches 47 Cents a Pound To-Day. Yandell and Trisler Get $22.55 Per Hundred For Their Whole Crop.

V. Leer, of Anderson County, Gets the High Average of $27.86 Per Hundred From a Crop.

All the Buyers of the Big Companies and Independents Are Bidding Spiritedly. 110,000 Pounds Averages 13 Cents a Pound.

High Prices Bringing Tobacco From All Quarters.

Tobacco which has been steadily going up since the first of the year took another upward bound this week and numerous high averages were recorded. Over 100,000 pounds were on sale at the two warehouses and there were no rejections, an evidence that the growers were satisfied. On the Danville breaks every leading buyer in the United States, including many independents. Tobacco men in Lincoln, Boyle, Garrard and Mercer counties who have succeeded in buying some crops in the barns, have brought them to Danville, and in some instances doubled their money. This is a warning to growers not to sell their tobacco in the barn, as the man by whose toil it is grown should have its full worth, and this can be gotten only in one way, and that on the loose leaf floor. The floor average for 110,000 pounds was the record, 13 cents.

Yandell & Trisler, of Boyle county, this morning, received an average of $22.55 per hundred for their crop; an Anderson county man got an average of $27.86 for his offering; E. E. Milton, of Anderson county, received an average of $18.58 cents a hundred and there were many others with equally as successful averages. The high prices being received here are attracting crops from all surrounding country. Buyers can pay higher prices in Danville on account of the splendid shipping facilities. Here below are given a few of the high averages recorded this morning:

Why You SHOULD SELL in LEXINGTON

Because it is the Biggest Market in the World.
Because All Large Manufacturers Have Their Redrying Plants Here.
Because all Smaller Manufacturers buy through Brokers on this Market
Because the Lexington Market has Averaged for the Past Five Years $1.50 to $3.00 Per Hundred Above Entire Average of the State.
Because it takes you Twelve Months of Hard Work to Raise a Crop;
Why Not Take a Day or Two Longer to Sell it on the BIGGEST AND BEST MARKET IN THE WORLD.

Don't take anybodys word for it—come and see for yourself and be convinced.
We Have a Sale Every Day In One Or More Of Our Houses.
As to the prices we are getting and the way we look after your tobacco—ask any one who has sold with us—we will stand by anything they say about us and solicit your trade on that basis.
Grade for grade, we believe the market is fully as strong as it has been at any time this season and we are making some high crop averages, but the general average of the entire market gives you a more correct idea as to how tobaccos are selling.
8,338,035 pounds have been sold up to date at an average of $10.00.
We advise you to bring your tobacco on and sell it as soon as you can.

Our Motto is Prompt and Efficient Service and Courteous Treatment.
